

Participants needed for Social Psychology research

- If you think you might like to participate in one of our studies and be compensated for your time, you can enter our participant pool. Compensation varies depending on the study.
- To sign up, simply go to the following website and complete the 1-minute McGill Social Psychology Recruitment Survey:

<http://tinyurl.com/hrvxfxh>

- Researchers in McGill's Social Psychology Labs will then have access to your information and will contact you to let you know about available studies.
- All studies are approved by the McGill Ethics Committee
- There is no obligation to participate in a study once you are in the pool, and you are free to withdraw from the pool at any time.

Principal Investigator: Dr. John Lydon

Contact:

Sabrah Khanyari at lydonlab.coordinator@gmail.com

Note: if you signed up last year and are interested in participating again this year, please complete the online questionnaire again as your information may have changed.